

For more

For more on the 2005 General Election, visit our dedicated website, BBC News 2005. News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election.

For more on the 2005 General Election, visit our dedicated website, BBC News 2005. News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election.

For more

BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election.

BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election.

BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election. BBC News 2005 is the only website that will give you the latest news, analysis and commentary on the 2005 election.

Helen Boaden

Helen Boaden
Director of BBC News

Radio 4

Radio 4, Radio Five Live, and BBC News at Ten are the main radio channels for the election. Radio 4 is the main channel for the election, and Radio Five Live is the main channel for the election. BBC News at Ten is the main channel for the election. The main channel for the election is Radio 4, and the main channel for the election is Radio 4.

Radio 4

John Humphrys is the main presenter of Radio 4.

bbc.co.uk
BBC

BBCi

BBC Online

For further information, visit the BBC website at www.bbc.co.uk/election2005. The website features a range of content, including news, analysis, and interactive tools.

- The "Issues grid" provides a comprehensive overview of the key issues facing the country.
- Where I Live, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.
- Desktop Peter Snow, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.
- Voters' video views, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.
- Journo Blogs, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.
- Results database, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.

BBC Interactive

The BBC Interactive team has developed a range of interactive tools, including the BBC flashmap, the BBC flashmap, and the BBC flashmap.

Ten O'Clock News Extra, a new interactive tool, allows users to explore the BBC flashmap.

For more information, visit the BBC website at:

www.bbc.co.uk/election2005

What to expect

Electoral Day will be broadcast on BBC One, BBC Two, BBC Four, BBC Five Live, BBC Scotland, BBC Wales, BBC Northern Ireland, BBC Newsnight, BBC News Online, BBC iPlayer, BBC News Channel, BBC News at Ceefax and Digital Text. News coverage will also be available on the BBC News website, BBC News on My Mobile, and the BBC News App.

BBC News Channel will broadcast the 2005 Election Night Special from 8pm to 11pm. BBC News Channel will also broadcast the 2005 Election Night Special on BBC News Channel.

Electoral Day will be broadcast on BBC One, BBC Two, BBC Four, BBC Five Live, BBC Scotland, BBC Wales, BBC Northern Ireland, BBC Newsnight, BBC News Online, BBC iPlayer, BBC News Channel, BBC News at Ceefax and Digital Text. News coverage will also be available on the BBC News website, BBC News on My Mobile, and the BBC News App.

Electoral Day will be broadcast on BBC One, BBC Two, BBC Four, BBC Five Live, BBC Scotland, BBC Wales, BBC Northern Ireland, BBC Newsnight, BBC News Online, BBC iPlayer, BBC News Channel, BBC News at Ceefax and Digital Text. News coverage will also be available on the BBC News website, BBC News on My Mobile, and the BBC News App.

At 10.30, the programme is followed by 6 on 1, Breakfast News and